

Brand & Product Production Brief

For Graphic Designer

Avensra Consulting has already approved the creative direction for its logo and launch product visuals. This assignment is to professionally reconstruct, refine and productionise those approved concepts. It is not an open brand or product redesign exercise.

Scope of Assignment

The designer is responsible for three connected production workstreams:

- 1. Master Avensra Logo System.
- 2. Business-to-People Alignment System™ product artwork and website assets.
- 3. The Executive Reset™ book, corporate edition and website product artwork.

The supplied visuals for both products are APPROVED CREATIVE DIRECTION, REFERENCE ONLY. The designer should improve production quality, consistency, typography, layout and export quality while preserving the approved visual direction. Any material design change requires Founder approval before implementation.

1. Brand identity to preserve

- Brand name: Avensra Consulting.
- Corporate tagline: Strategy. People. Performance.
- Core symbol: the approved geometric A mark shown in the supplied reference artwork.
- The A includes its distinctive geometric construction and circular gold element. These features must remain recognisable and consistent.
- Overall positioning: premium, corporate, strategic, modern and suitable for an international consulting firm.

2. Non-negotiable design instruction

Do not create a new logo concept.

Use the supplied approved reference as the visual source of truth. Reconstruct the logo professionally as vector artwork, cleaning geometry, alignment and production quality only where necessary. Do not reinterpret the A, replace it with a generic A, remove or relocate the circular element, or introduce an alternative symbol without written approval.

3. Approved colour direction

Colour	Reference	Use
Navy	#0B1D33	Primary corporate background and dark brand applications
Gold	#C7A24A	Logo mark, accents and premium

		brand details
Ivory	#F7F5EE	Light background
Charcoal	#2B2B2B	Supporting dark text
White	#FFFFFF	Reversed applications

4. Required logo configurations

- Primary full logo: geometric A + AVENSRA + CONSULTING + Strategy. People. Performance.
- Horizontal logo lockup for website headers and wide placements.
- Standalone geometric A mark.
- Primary logo for dark/navy backgrounds.
- Primary logo for light/ivory or white backgrounds.
- One-colour black version.
- One-colour white/reversed version.
- Favicon and small digital icon based on the approved A.
- Watermark version of the exact A for website imagery and branded documents.

5. Required master files

- Editable vector master file, Adobe Illustrator AI or equivalent professional vector source.
- SVG for website and digital use.
- EPS for scalable production use.
- Vector PDF.
- High-resolution transparent PNG versions.
- JPG versions where useful.
- Favicon exports in appropriate web sizes.
- Separate standalone A files.
- Separate full-logo lockup files.

6. Typography

Identify the exact typefaces used in the final wordmark and tagline. Provide font names and licensing information. If the reference typography cannot be reproduced exactly, propose the closest commercially usable typeface before finalising. Do not independently change the wordmark character, spacing or hierarchy without approval.

7. Logo construction and usage guide

Provide a concise one-page or multi-page logo usage sheet covering:

- Logo construction and approved lockups.
- Clear-space rule.
- Minimum digital and print sizes.
- Exact colour values in HEX, RGB, CMYK and Pantone where appropriate.
- Approved background applications.
- Correct and incorrect logo usage.
- Standalone A usage.
- Watermark guidance.
- Favicon guidance.

8. Website watermark requirement

The website homepage will use the exact approved A as a subtle watermark over a mountain hero image. Prepare a clean standalone vector A suitable for this use. The website developer will normally display it at approximately 10 to 15 percent visual opacity. Do not create a separate or simplified A for the watermark.

9. What must not change

- Do not replace the approved geometric A with a generic letter A.
- Do not distort the mark or alter its proportions arbitrarily.
- Do not remove, enlarge excessively or reposition the circular element without approval.
- Do not introduce extra symbols, gradients, bevels, shadows or decorative effects unless approved.
- Do not create alternative logo concepts as part of the final deliverable unless specifically requested.
- Do not change the company name or tagline.
- Do not substitute unrelated brand colours.

10. Review and approval process

1. Stage 1: Designer submits a clean vector reconstruction of the approved primary logo for review.
1. Stage 2: Avensra approves the geometry, typography, proportions and colour treatment before variants are produced.
2. Stage 3: Designer produces the full logo family and usage guide.
2. Stage 4: Avensra gives final approval.
3. Stage 5: Designer supplies all editable source files and final exports.

11. Ownership and handover

On final payment, Avensra Consulting must receive the editable source artwork and unrestricted commercial usage rights to the final commissioned logo assets, subject to any third-party font licensing terms. No final logo asset should remain available only through the designer's account or software environment.

12. Acceptance criteria

- The final A is faithful to the approved reference.
- The circular element and geometric structure are preserved.
- The logo works at large and small sizes.
- The full lockup is legible on dark and light backgrounds.
- The supplied SVG renders cleanly in modern browsers.
- All required formats and variants are delivered.
- Typography and colour specifications are documented.
- Editable vector source files are included.
- No unapproved logo redesign has been introduced.

13. Materials supplied to the designer

Avensra will provide the approved logo reference artwork and the existing logo reference assets. These materials are design references. The designer's job is to convert the approved identity into a professionally constructed, production-ready master system.

14. Workstream 2: Business-to-People Alignment System™

The Business-to-People Alignment System™ is an Avensra digital product. The designer must use the supplied approved concept as the creative reference and convert it into a consistent, professional product identity using the final Avensra master logo.

Required production outputs

- Final professional product cover using the approved creative direction.
- Flat front-cover artwork for the digital product.
- High-resolution transparent product mock-ups for website use.
- 3D product mock-up suitable for hero and sales-page placement.
- Website product-card image and thumbnail variants.
- Promotional/social media product graphics using the same visual system.
- Any supporting pack/folder visual required to show the product as a complete system.
- Final exports optimised for desktop, tablet and mobile website display.

Creative control

- Do not redesign the product from scratch.
- Do not introduce a different colour system, logo, typography direction or unrelated imagery without approval.
- Use the final approved Avensra logo assets, not the AI-rendered logo visible in any reference mock-up.
- Preserve the premium, executive and international consulting aesthetic.
- Submit any proposed material change to the Founder before implementation.

15. Workstream 3: The Executive Reset™

The Executive Reset™ is a guided colouring and reflection experience for busy professionals. It is designed for printing at home or professional printing, and for digital use on a tablet with a stylus. The approved navy, gold and premium editorial direction should be preserved.

Book production

- Final front and back cover using the approved creative direction.
- Professional layout and typesetting of the completed 40-page interior once final content and artwork are supplied.
- Consistent section treatment for Release, Reset, Reflect and Return.
- Print-ready edition suitable for A4 and US Letter output.
- Digital/tablet-friendly edition suitable for stylus annotation.
- Corporate Edition treatment that can accommodate organisation name, licence ID and licensed participant/cohort information.
- Consistent use of the final approved Avensra master logo throughout.
- Production files that preserve clean colouring areas and do not compromise line-art quality.

Website and marketing assets

- Flat book-cover artwork.

- 3D book mock-up.
- Tablet mock-up showing the digital/stylus use case.
- Printed-page mock-up showing the print use case.
- Corporate Edition mock-up.
- Website product-card and thumbnail assets.
- Corporate Experience promotional graphic where required.
- Launch and social media promotional assets using the approved product identity.

Creative control

- Do not convert the product into a generic adult colouring-book aesthetic.
- Do not introduce childish illustrations or casual consumer styling.
- Preserve the premium executive stationery/editorial feel of the approved concept.
- Do not change the Release, Reset, Reflect, Return structure.
- Use the final Avensra logo master. Any AI-rendered logo visible in a reference image is not authoritative.
- Material changes to cover composition, colour, typography or product identity require Founder approval.

16. Website implementation boundary

The graphic designer owns production of the final brand and product visual assets. The website developer is responsible for implementing those approved assets on the website. The developer should not redesign the logo, book covers, product identity or product mock-ups.

17. Product review and approval workflow

1. Stage 1: Designer productionises the Avensra master logo and receives approval.
2. Stage 2: Designer applies the approved master logo to the Business-to-People Alignment System™ and The Executive Reset™ reference designs.
3. Stage 3: Founder reviews the primary product covers and visual system before secondary mock-ups are produced.
4. Stage 4: Designer completes website, digital, print and promotional variants.
5. Stage 5: Founder gives final approval before files are released to the website developer.
6. Stage 6: Designer hands over all editable production files and final exports.

18. Final handover package

- Complete Avensra logo master system and usage guide.
- Business-to-People Alignment System™ editable artwork and final exports.
- The Executive Reset™ editable book artwork, print-ready and digital editions, once final 40-page content is supplied.
- Corporate Edition source files and adaptable licence fields.
- Website product mock-ups and thumbnails.
- Launch/promotional graphics agreed in scope.
- All editable source files and final production exports organised in clearly labelled folders.

19. Source-of-truth rule

Approved creative references guide the visual direction. The final signed-off Avensra vector logo master governs all logo use.

Where an AI-generated reference image contains an inaccurate or approximate logo, the designer must replace it with the final approved master logo. The reference image remains authoritative for composition, mood and product direction, not for any inaccurate logo rendering.
